Qualifiers for Unsportsmanlike Conduct for ALL TARS Competitions– 2022

Unsportsmanlike conduct (also called untrustworthy behavior or ungentlemanly fraudulent or bad sportsmanship or poor sportsmanship or anti fair-play) is a foul or offense that violates the competition's generally accepted rules of sportsmanship and participant conduct. Examples include verbal abuse or taunting of an opponent or a competition official, an excessive celebration following a significant play, or feigning injury. The official rules of many competitions include a general provision whereby participants or an entire team may be penalized or otherwise sanctioned for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Examples Include but not limited to:

- Throwing of objects including PPE, tools, etc.
- Lying, cheating, stealing or other types of moral turpitude
- Verbal abuse of any kind
- Written, verbal, or social media threats
- Taunting of other competitors
- Taunting, arguing with, or abusing officials
- Excessive celebrations
- Feigning injuries
- Simulating actions intended to deceive the competition officials
- Failure to comply with the rules as set forth for the respective competition
- Safety Violations
- Disorderly behavior
- Competition fixing in which a team deliberately attempts to achieve an advantage against an opponent
- Other moral violations as set forth in the TARS by-laws
